IndonesiaWISE CSR Workshop

Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) has become an important management priority and topic for social discussion in Indonesia today. Communities expect it, companies are practicing it, the media is scrutinizing it and government bodies are trying to regulate it. What is the reality on ground? What are the impacts of CSR programs? How best can these be managed? Which stakeholders can be engaged? What models are suitable for Asia?

These are some of the questions that need answers. IndonesiaWISE, international management consulting firm, with unique expertise in sustainability including CSR is arranging a topical practical solutions focused workshop focusing on practices and impacts on Purwakarta Regency, West Java, a test case for the success of well managed CSR programs in Indonesia.
